

Unorthodox Shooting Positions

Being in unorthodox positions through out our day isn't out of the norm. However, if you found yourself having to shoot from one of these positions it would be a different story. As such, it is important that you incorporate unorthodox shooting into your training. During this class, you will be shooting from several positions: seated in a chair, seated on the ground with and without your legs extended, and seated on the ground laying on your back. These are only a few of the unorthodox positions you could find yourself in if you had to defend yourself with a firearm. This is a live fire class.
